Aroma's Aroma

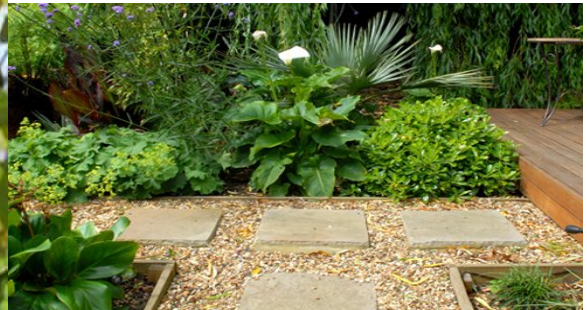

Landscaping is often thought to be as an art and craft of setting out plants and trees. Each type of garden requires certain ideal space. Some are more discreet and intimate than others, with the warmth that comes from modest style.

Commercial landscape installations range from foundation plans to the installation of the entire landscape. Property owners often have a specific idea or theme they want to incorporate into the landscaping. Special areas such as patios, driveways, parking lots or walkways that accommodate desirable views can be installed. We work within your budget to install a landscape that fits your lifestyle. A right choice of landscape increases the value of a house or property.

We promise you to transform your vision in to reality.

We make every effort to not only lead, but to transform the industry through knowledge, integrity, professionalism and technology, so that we can expertly handle anything you ask for us.

We conduct business in a way that instills a sense of confidence in our clients; something that reaches beyond Aroma's service competence; it's a sense of security.

Designing & construction

A great landscape design increases the value of your property, creates more livable square footage and invites you to spend more time outdoors enjoying the glorious, yet relaxed living.

Landscape design uses texture, colour, line, scale, spacing and more to create an overall balanced environment. So much more than just a collection of pretty plants, a good design will use an appropriate combination of soft and hardscape elements to deliver on your lifestyle requirements and desired amount of upkeep.

In the hands of a professional, your lawn and garden challenges, including awkward or small spaces, can become opportunities for creative and appealing solutions

Understanding a client's vision is most important in any successful project. Our specialist team can achieve your vision to reality.

SUSTAINABILITY

Sustainability is most often associated with the environment and specifically to our landscapes and gardens. What is a sustainable garden? It is an organic garden taken a step further. Following organic gardening practices will sustain soils and plants while it nourishes and sustains your family, both physically and aesthetically.

Organic gardening also points us towards other gardening practices that pursue the goal of sustainability by conserving resources.

Sustainable gardening is one of the most important and effective sustainability practices that we can follow. Its practice and benefits include respecting, and improving the soils, using native plants, shrubs and trees to create beautiful landscapes, feeding one's family fresh, organically-grown fruits, berries and vegetables and utilizing every renewable resource that nature provides, from rain water to gravel. Sustainability often mimics natural process, utilizing what nature gives us with as little supplement as we can manage. When supplementing natural process is called for, it's done with as little impact as possible; substituting beneficial insects for pesticides or drip irrigation for sprinkler watering. In short, sustainable gardening is a low maintenance, eco-friendly method of growing, harvesting and using a resource in this case our very earth, so that the resource is minimally depleted, easily restored and not permanently damaged.
